

"30 MILLION WORD GAP" ON CHILD DEVELOPMENT

Several studies have documented a significant word gap between privileged and underresourced families.

These gaps contribute to possible delays in language, academic abilities, social-emotional learning, and impact the parent-child relationship

Often not discussed are the systemic challenges underresourced families face in narrowing the gap.

A lack of access, barriers to resources, reduced time with children due to other demands, financial strains, etc. can impact a family's ability to close these gaps
